

Radishes

Radishes make a crisp, peppery addition to many recipes, and are delicious raw or cooked.

- Slice or cut into wedges and serve with salad dressing, hummus, or ricotta cheese for dipping.
- Bread, a light spread of butter, sliced radishes, and a shake of salt make a fresh summer sandwich. Or use pesto or mashed avocado in place of butter.
- Place whole radishes in large skillet, cover with cold water, and add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, and ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper. Simmer until radishes are tender and liquid has reduced to a glaze.
- Separate from greens/tops and refrigerate separately in plastic bags.

Radishes

Radishes make a crisp, peppery addition to many recipes, and are delicious raw or cooked.

- Slice or cut into wedges and serve with salad dressing, hummus, or ricotta cheese for dipping.
- Bread, a light spread of butter, sliced radishes, and a shake of salt make a fresh summer sandwich. Or use pesto or mashed avocado in place of butter.
- Place whole radishes in large skillet, cover with cold water, and add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, and ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper. Simmer until radishes are tender and liquid has reduced to a glaze.
- Separate from greens/tops and refrigerate separately in plastic bags.

Radishes

Radishes make a crisp, peppery addition to many recipes, and are delicious raw or cooked.

- Slice or cut into wedges and serve with salad dressing, hummus, or ricotta cheese for dipping.
- Bread, a light spread of butter, sliced radishes, and a shake of salt make a fresh summer sandwich. Or use pesto or mashed avocado in place of butter.
- Place whole radishes in large skillet, cover with cold water, and add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, and ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper. Simmer until radishes are tender and liquid has reduced to a glaze.
- Separate from greens/tops and refrigerate separately in plastic bags.

Radishes

Radishes make a crisp, peppery addition to many recipes, and are delicious raw or cooked.

- Slice or cut into wedges and serve with salad dressing, hummus, or ricotta cheese for dipping.
- Bread, a light spread of butter, sliced radishes, and a shake of salt make a fresh summer sandwich. Or use pesto or mashed avocado in place of butter.
- Place whole radishes in large skillet, cover with cold water, and add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon sugar, and ½ teaspoon each salt and pepper. Simmer until radishes are tender and liquid has reduced to a glaze.
- Separate from greens/tops and refrigerate separately in plastic bags.

